DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responding to application paper dated 7/29/2005.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 47-60 in response to the examiner's restriction request is acknowledged.
3. Claims 1-46 have been cancelled as part of Restriction practice. As per applicant's request, claim 47 has been amended. Claims 47-60 are pending in the application.

Drawings

4. Figure 1 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2193

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 47-60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Van Hoff et al. (US Patent 6,272,536) hereinafter referred to as "Hoff."

Per claim 47:

Hoff discloses:

-creating, by a channel server, a channel comprising a list of one or more channel clients and one or more tasks assigned to each one of the channel clients (i.e.

"Channel—A named application consisting of code and data which can be subscribed to by an end-user. Once delivered to the end-user a channel behaves much like a normal application," col. 3 lines 1-13; col. 4 lines 19-38);

-receiving, by each one of the channel clients from the channel server, installation files for the channel client component(i.e. these software and data updates are automatically downloaded and installed in the background," abstract);

-receiving, by each one of the channel clients from the channel server, installation files for a service (i.e. col. 12 lines 15-28);

-installing, by each one of the channel clients, the installation files for the channel client component and the installation files for the service(i.e. col. 12 lines 15-28);

-requesting, by the channel client from the channel server, one or more tasks for deployment on the channel client ("During the processing of an install request, transmitter process...generate a "diff file" for a file which is updated as part of the install," col. 12 lines 15-28) as claimed.

Art Unit: 2193

Per claim 48:

The rejection of claim 47 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- the channel client performs the actions of receiving through a direct network connection with the channel server (col. 3 lines 44-55) as claimed.

Per claim 49:

The rejection of claim 47 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- the channel client performs the actions of receiving through a subscription file ("The use of channels is based on subscription," abstract).

Per claim 53:

The rejection of claim 47 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- automatically contacting the channel server by the channel client to receive software (col. 3 lines 44-55) as claimed.

Per claim 54:

The rejection of claim 47 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- a computer readable medium having computer executable instructions for performing the method of claim 47 (col. 5 lines 23-33) as claimed.

Per claim 55, it is the apparatus version of claim 48, respectively, and is rejected for the same reasons set forth in connection with the rejection of claim 48 above.

Per claim 56:

Art Unit: 2193

The rejection of claim 55 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- the second file allows the channel client component to be installed without a user logged on to the target computer(i.e. these software and data updates are automatically downloaded and installed in the background," abstract).

Per claim 57:

The rejection of claim 55 is incorporated, and further, Hoff teaches:

- second file allows one or more channel client components to be installed on a target computer regardless of the user's permissions (i.e. these software and data updates are automatically downloaded and installed in the background," abstract).

Per claim 58, it is the apparatus version of claim 49, respectively, and is rejected for the same reasons set forth in connection with the rejection of claim 49 above.

Per claims 59 and 60, they are the apparatus versions of claims 56 and 57, respectively, and are rejected for the same reasons set forth in connection with the rejection of claims 56 and 57 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 50-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hoff et al. (US Patent 6,272,536) hereinafter referred to as "Hoff."

Per claims 50-52:

Art Unit: 2193

The method of receiving the subscription file depends on user's preference. Hoff discloses the distribution system using channels over network. Hoff does not explicitly state the specific methods of receiving the subscription file such as via e-mail, web page, and login script; however, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art of computer software distribution and configuration to use any preferred means to receive the subscription file as users may have different preferences and purposes. The modification would be obvious because one having ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to provide users various delivery options for different preferences.
